Marriage In the Gospel Reading Christ has a stern thing to say about all marriage: if a husband divorces his wife and marries again, he commits adultery, and so does his wife if she remarries.

Given that stern saying, why would anyone want to marry? Why would God want anyone to marry?

The First Reading describes the way God arranged the first marriage. When Adam is without Eve, God says that it isn't good for Adam to be alone—and that's the reason for God's creating Eve and arranging Adam's marriage to her.

When God made human beings embodied and gendered, he gave them the great gift.

But who made the man in such a way that it isn't good for him to be alone? God did, didn't he? God didn't make the angels this way. Angels don't get married. They don't have children either. No angel is in himself the union of two other angels, who merged something of themselves to form him.

As far as that goes, angels have no gender either. An angel isn't male or female. No angel can say to another angel, "You complete me." It is perfectly fine for an angel to be alone.

Human beings have what angels lack: the glorious richness of embodied, gendered human life. But there is a fragility about this rich embodied life too. Those who do get married are open to each other and dependent on each other, and so they become terribly vulnerable to each other, too.

And here it is worth noticing that both the Readings focus on men. In the First Reading, God's arrangements for Adam have the result Adam sketches: a man will leave his parents and cling to his wife. In the Gospel Reading, Christ is responding to the Pharisees' question whether it is lawful for a husband to divorce his wife. Most of the time, in the post-Fall world, the risks of marriage are unequally distributed between the genders. They tend to fall more on women than on men.

When God made human beings embodied and gendered, he gave them the great gift, lacking for the angels, that they could be joined together for life in marriage, with children. For us, who live in the post-Fall world Adam bequeathed us, this gift comes with beset with risks for heart-breaking suffering. The challenge for us is to preserve the promise and beauty of God's gift. The perils of marriage for women—and also for men—is hedged in by Christ's stern prohibition against divorce.

CATHOLIC GIFT ANNUITY A Charitable Gift Annuity is a contract in which someone makes a gift to Catholic Gift Annuity, and in return, you receive fixed payments for life. At your death, the remaining balance of the gift annuity is distributed to the Catholic organization(s) you designate. Person also receives an income tax deduction for a portion of your gift as allowable by IRS rules. See brochures on bulletin board for more info.

VOCATION CORNER – “As a young adult, I practiced mixed martial arts and worked in the film industry. I was a non-practicing Catholic, and after finding a rosary that I had carried around for a number of years, I began contemplating why I had always considered myself Catholic yet neglected my faith. When I decided, by the grace of God, to pray that rosary, I realized that my love of material comforts was rooted in y desire for the infinite and that I would never be fully satisfied without God. I began attending daily Massentered seminary..and now a happily ordained priest. To those discerning, I simply say, “Live every day as though you are being called for greatness.”” Father Christopher Floersh; Columbia Magazine March 2018

RESERVE THE DATE October 27, 4 pm for Joint Parish Halloween Hayride and Party hosted at St Francis Church.

Liturgy - God for Us Who Fail

The Penitential Rite reveals a new power. Confessing our weakness enables us to rise above sin. The prayers "I confess" and "Lord, have mercy" call to mind God's strength. We discover a God for those of us who fail.

We gather for the Mass as a people in need of the Lord's mercy. There is no limit to God's merciful forgiveness. The Bible reveals encouragement for the downtrodden, comfort for the sorrowing, healing for the penitent. From the Hebrew Scriptures through the New Testament we read of countless fractures in the covenant. Each time, God forgives and renews the divine promise: "I will be your God and you shall be my people."

The Penitential Rite confronts us with the steadfast love of our Creator. Yet how easy it is to let the words slip out without actually reflecting on our weaknesses and failures. We become accustomed to falling short of the mark and we simply go through the motions of sorrow. Our fears of failing again prevent us from picking ourselves up and making the required changes in our lives.

And it stands to reason! As long as we rely on ourselves we will fail again. Our pride blocks God's forgiveness. Once again, Paul is a great witness to self-surrender in the Lord. In his Second Letter to the Corinthians, he writes: "Therefore I am content with weaknesses, insults, hardships, persecutions, and calamities for the sake of Christ; for whenever I am weak, then I am strong" (2 Corinthians 12:10).

QUESTIONS FOR REFLECTION

Do you think the culture from which this story comes values women the same as men? Why or why not? What would you say to a person who thinks the superiority of men over women is divinely revealed in this text? What would you do if the women and men in your work place were not treated as equals?

Jesus consecrated himself to his Father and us along with him. He called us sisters and brothers. How does this create reverence toward our brothers and sisters? Do you treat the bag lady with the same respect that you treat the CEO?

All deep bonds with others have a profound effect on our lives. What kinds of things bring people together in the first place? What can you do to hold those bonds intact? Where would you rank communication as a help to hold the bonds intact?
